REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. Claims 1–36 are allowed.
2. References 6995621, 6542040, 5799049, 7002415, 6166606 and 6289068 are cited because they are pertinent to the claimed invention.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
  - Regarding to independent claim 1, none of prior art of record teaches or suggests a method for controlling a low jitter digital frequency synthesizer wherein the method comprises procedures of incrementing a first counter of an input clock to produce an incremented first count when the clock count of the first counter reaches a value of D; incrementing a second counter of an output clock to produce an incremented second count when the clock count of the second counter reaches a value of M; periodically taking a snapshot of the incremented first count to produce a snapshot first count; periodically taking a snapshot of the incremented second count to produce a snapshot second count; and adjusting a delay line tap value based on an error, which is generated based on the snapshot first count and the snapshot second count.

-Regarding to independent claim 10, none of prior art of record teaches or suggests an apparatus for controlling a low jitter digital frequency synthesizer wherein the apparatus comprises devices of incrementing a first counter of an input clock to produce an incremented first count when the clock count of the first counter reaches a value of D; incrementing a second counter of an output clock to produce an incremented second count when the clock count of the second counter reaches a value of M; periodically taking a snapshot of the incremented first count to produce a snapshot first count; periodically taking a snapshot of the incremented second count to produce a snapshot second count; and adjusting a delay line tap value based on an error, which is generated based on the snapshot first count and the snapshot second count.

-Regarding to independent claim 19, none of prior art of record teaches or suggests a low jitter digital frequency synthesizer comprising a first counter for counting intervals of M cycles of an input clock to produce a first count; a second counter for counting intervals of D cycles of an output clock to produce a second count wherein a rate of the output clock corresponds to  $M/D$  times a rate of the input clock; a snapshot module for periodically taking a snapshot of the first count to produce a first snapshot and of the second count to produce a second snapshot; and a tap delay lay for producing the output clock based on an error value, which is generated based on the first snapshot and the second snapshot.

–Regarding to independent claim 28, none of prior art of record teaches or suggests a programmable logic device comprising: a first counter for counting intervals of  $M$  cycles of an input clock to produce a first count; a second counter for counting intervals of  $D$  cycles of an output clock to produce a second count wherein a rate of the output clock corresponds to  $M/D$  times a rate of the input clock; a snapshot module for periodically taking a snapshot of the first count to produce a first snapshot and of the second count to produce a second snapshot; and a tap delay lay for producing the output clock based on an error value, which is generated based on the first snapshot and the second snapshot.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should
